predictive data mining, which is the process of using the previously gathered data to select current data for predict a value and in second method the predicted algorithms select current data for predict a values. The lots of techniques are used for prediction techniques that are as follows-

1. Nearest neighbour
2. Natural network
3. Bayes classifier
4. Decision tree

Regression-

The regression means that calculating a predicted values with only on numeric data. Regression used the statistical method or technique for finding prediction values. The regression can use relationship between one or more independent variables and find a final result. The scalability of a regression is depend upon which type of data are in data set.

In this article Divisibility rules with examples we give the information about division tricks such as divisibility rule of 3, divisibility test of 11, Divisibility rule of 7, divisibility rule of 8 etc.

The Divisibility Meaning : when numerator value can be completely divided by denominator value, then the numerator value is said to be divisible by the denominator value.

20 can be completely divided by 5, hence, the number 20 is divisible by 5.
